Incident Summary: The victims, who work security for Colonial Village, were on routine patrol when they were flagged down by the suspect in front of the bus stop. The victims, who thought the suspect needed their assistance, stopped to see what was wrong. The victims got out of their marked security vehicles and approached the suspect. Two of the victims, who had a confrontation the night before with the suspect, recognized him as they approached him. The suspect told the victims he had something for them and pulled out a handgun from his waistband and pointed at the victims. As the suspect attempted to fire his handgun, he realized there wasn't a round in the chamber and had to chamber a round which gave the victims time to take cover by one of the security vehicles. The suspect then fired two gunshots at the victims as he was backing up towards the building. One of the victims was able to fire one gunshot at the suspect before he fled the scene. No one was struck out of the incident.
