

2009 ANNUAL REPORT

DIVISION OF POLICE
COLUMBUS, OHIO

P.R.I.D.E.—The Division’s Core Values embody all that we strive for: Professionalism, Respect, Integrity, Discipline, and Enthusiasm. Each and every day, the men and women of the Columbus Division of Police serve the public with pride. We have pride not only in ourselves and our chosen profession, but pride in the City of Columbus and the citizens that we serve.

I was truly honored to be sworn in as Chief of the Columbus Division of Police on March 17, 2009. I feel fortunate to work with talented police professionals who demonstrate their commitment and dedication on a daily basis. In late May and early June, the Division held four community forums in which citizens were given the opportunity to make their voices heard. In addition, surveys were distributed to members of the community and the Division. Responses from the surveys and from individuals at the forums have helped to shape the Division’s future path.

As the Division began preparing for the upcoming challenges associated with the impending retirement of a significant number of experienced personnel, a thorough review of assignments and procedures was conducted. In the fall, the Division’s leadership attended a two-day retreat and participated in a leadership seminar. A continuing future challenge for us will be to maintain our vision and strategic approach to lowering the crime rate, despite budgetary constraints.

As personnel with a significant wealth of institutional knowledge transition to the next stage of their lives, the mentoring process will move to the forefront. I am committed to ensuring that today’s current leaders pass on the best they have to offer to those that are waiting for the opportunity to lead. One key component of our future success is a solid commitment to diversity throughout the Division. The recruitment of women and minorities is a high priority, as the Division should reflect the diverse community that we serve.

Managing our resources and ensuring that our personnel have the tools necessary to get the job done is of the utmost importance. I am focused on getting results for the citizens of Columbus. I look forward to working together with members of the community to keep our neighborhoods safe. We will continue to confront the challenges brought our way with P.R.I.D.E. during the upcoming year.

Michael B. Coleman
Mayor of Columbus

Mitchell J. Brown
Director of Public Safety

A Message from the Public Safety Director

As Public Safety Director and on behalf of Mayor Michael B. Coleman, I want to thank the men and women of the Columbus Division of Police for their commitment and dedication to public service. I commend the Columbus Division of Police for being nationally accredited and re-accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc (CALEA) for having successfully met numerous internationally-recognized professional police standards since 1999.

As you know, 2009 was a tough year for the City of Columbus due to the economic downturn that affected the entire nation. Despite tough times, the men and women of the Division of Police continued their commitment to keeping Columbus residents safe by enhancing neighborhood safety through great initiatives such as the summer anti-gang initiative and the expansion of electronic on-line reporting for pawnshops.

Public Safety is the most important duty of a city, and the top priority of Mayor Coleman's administration. In 2009, we were proud to support the Division of Police with more than $253 million to keep citizens safe and to strive to be the best with innovative tools, training, and strong management.

For the first time in nearly twenty years, the Division saw the installation of a new Chief of Police. Chief Walter L. Distelzweig set out on a course to enhance the Division by listening to the concerns of officers and residents, ensuring that the Division makes the best use of its budget, and deploying officers in the most efficient manner. With the help of all officers, the Division of Police was able to significantly reduce budgeted overtime.

The Columbus Division of Police continues to be one of the best 21st century law enforcement agencies because of its outstanding people, commitment to technological innovations, and first-class facilities. In 2009, we once again focused on reducing gang and gun violence in Columbus neighborhoods through the summer anti-gang initiative, which resulted in 286 arrests and 117 guns taken off the street; we expanded our highly-successful electronic on-line reporting tool used by scrap metal dealers and Columbus pawnshops that allows police to locate stolen items if they are sold to a participating business; we completed the construction of our brand new Police Heliport at 2130 W. Broad Street; we moved into a new facility for our Strategic Response Bureau; and we legislated the purchase of 62 new police cruisers.

As we look forward to 2010, we will continue to maintain our current services by providing the Division with the very best personnel and equipment to meet the growing demands of the Columbus residents. The demands of protecting a growing city in the 21st century are high, but we have the utmost confidence in every police officer we employ. In 2010, we will move forward by hiring additional police officers, purchasing new police vehicles, and continuing to invest in the latest technology to keep our Division a step ahead of the criminals.

Our commitment to public service and public safety will remain our motivation in the mission to make Columbus the best city in the nation to live, work, and raise a family. Thank you for your determination and strength, and for inspiring us all to be the best.

Keep up the good work!

Division Highlights

On March 6, 2009, the 114th Recruit Class graduated from the training academy and the recruits were sworn in as police officers in the presence of the President of the United States, Barack Obama. President Obama directed that $2 billion of federal stimulus money be used for law enforcement jobs. The 25 recruit jobs were saved using a $1.25 million Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant which paid the salary of the graduating recruits for one year. President Barack Obama attended the graduation ceremony, which was held at the Aladdin Shrine Temple to accommodate the audience.

Security checkpoint prior to entering the Graduation ceremony.

After the Presentation of Colors and Pledge of Allegiance by the Police Honor Guard, the Fort Hayes Metropolitan Singers sang the National Anthem in the dignitary-filled banquet hall.

Remarks were then provided by Class Orator Joshua Van Dop, Mayor Michael Coleman, and President Barack Obama. Mitchell J. Brown, Director of Public Safety gave his remarks and then administered the Oath of Office to the class.

The President's 12-minute speech to the 1,000+ audience members addressed the number of jobs that were being lost and why he signed the stimulus bill that Congress passed. President Obama signed the bill on February 17th, and used the 114th Recruit Class as an example of the positive impact the stimulus money could have on the economy and jobs.

Veteran Patrol officers and supervisors received driver training from the Advanced Training Section in the Precision Immobilization Technique (PIT), emergency vehicle operations, Stop Stick deployment, and a braking and steering exercise. The training took place at the National Trail Raceway, and involved hands-on training in conducting moving vehicle stops at speeds up to 45mph.

The focus of this training was the PIT maneuver, a controlled and trained technique of an induced rotational vehicle stop of a non-compliant suspect vehicle. This technique has been used by the Secret Service for over thirty years, but is just now beginning to be utilized by municipal law enforcement agencies.

The remainder of the training day included “hands-on” deployment of the Stop Sticks, another useful tool in stopping non-compliant suspect vehicles; as well as an emergency vehicle operations course designed to put the officers through a series of turns, curves, and stops while operating in the emergency mode with lights and siren activated. A braking and steering course allowed the officers to experience a skid with instructions on how to maintain control of the car.

“Do justice, love mercy, and walk humbly” ...Chief James G. Jackson reminded Division personnel of this at almost every ceremony and promotion during the past 18 years. On March 16, 2009, Chief James G. Jackson marked his last day with the Division, after a 51-year career. He was recognized for his service to the City and the Division by the dedication and renaming of the Division’s training academy to the James G. Jackson Columbus Police Academy.

During his 18 years as Chief, James Jackson changed the make up of the Division. There have been 37 recruit classes graduate from the training academy. Of the 1,558 officers currently on the Division, 1,186 came on after he became chief. The supervisory ranks have changed as well. In 1995, Chief

Jackson promoted the first female to the rank of commander, and over the past 18 years, the majority of the current supervisors have been promoted, including all 5 of the deputy chiefs, 16 of the 18 commanders, 52 of the 56 lieutenants, and 204 of the 228 sergeants.

Chief Jackson retired as the Division’s longest-serving police chief, with almost 19 years as the head of the Columbus Division of Police, which will never be matched due to a change in the City’s charter.

Division Highlights

On March 17, 2009, Walter L. Distelzweig was sworn in by Public Safety Director Mitchell Brown as the Division's Chief of Police. A formal swearing-in ceremony was held on April 3, 2009 at the James G. Jackson Columbus Police Academy. Chief Distelzweig was one of four individuals who applied for the position. He has served on the Division for 37 years in a variety of assignments. He joined the Division on December 3, 1972, and attained the rank of Sergeant in 1984, Lieutenant in 1988, Commander in 1992, and Deputy Chief in 1998.

His assignments have included Patrol, Helicopter Unit, Business and Personnel, Training Bureau and his last assignment was as Deputy Chief of the Administrative Subdivision.

Chief Distelzweig graduated from Ohio Dominican University where he earned a Bachelors degree in Criminal Justice; he received his Masters degree from Central Michigan University. Chief Distelzweig is a graduate of the FBI National Academy, and as a supervisor he attended the Police Executive Leadership College (PELC) and the Certified Law Enforcement Executive (CLEE) course. Chief Distelzweig retired from the Ohio Army National Guard after 21 years of service as an Army Aviator piloting the UH-1 Huey Helicopter, and currently holds the rank of Captain in the Civil Air Patrol. In addition, he is a proud member of the Columbus Police and Fire Pipes and Drums.

On November 1, 2009, the Division promoted Commanders Jeffrey Blackwell and Kimberley Jacobs to Deputy Chief. The promotion to Deputy Chief was the Division's first for a female. Deputy Chief Jacobs joined the Division in 1979. She was promoted to sergeant in 1987 and worked in various Patrol assignments. In 1991, she was one of the first two females promoted to lieutenant, and she was assigned to Patrol and then to the Communications Bureau. In 1995, she continued to be a pioneer and attained the rank of commander and had assignments in the Communications, Internal Affairs, Patrol Zone 4, and Training Bureaus before being promoted to deputy chief.

As a lieutenant, Deputy Chief Jacobs was instrumental in assisting in the development and implementation of the Citizen Police Academy and helping to create and implement a new domestic violence report. As a commander, she restructured the Communications Bureau's SOP, its training program, and created civilian supervisory positions. She also reengineered the Internal Affairs Bureau, and while over the Training Bureau she helped develop the first-ever drivers training program for veteran officers; and supervised the training of five recruit classes.

Officer Catherine Kirk, Advanced Training Operations Unit, along with the assistance of a member from the Forensic Anthropology and Archaeology Cold Cast Team (FAACCT) and graduate students from the Ohio State University, created a unique training class called "Welcome to Death Scene Forensics." The class focused on the forensic recovery of human remains. Officer Kirk has been a student and practitioner of forensic anthropology and "crime scene archaeology" for nearly 15 years. The class provided practical and hands-on training on the correct recovery of buried human remains. The course was a couple of years in the planning stages in order to enable the earth over buried, donated bones to settle and provide a realistic experience and practical knowledge to the attending law enforcement personnel.

- Supplies for the Division's Taser units
- Simunition kits for S&W M&P firearms for training purposes
- Drug testing kits for Patrol officers
- Stop Sticks for Patrol officers

The Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) investigates complaints made by the public against Division personnel. The IAB supervisors received 2,699 calls and letters from the public and investigated 647 citizen complaints (down 12.45% from 2008) involving 1,151 different allegations. The breakdown of the findings for the 1,151 allegations included in the 552 investigations completed in 2009 is as follows:

- 401 Unfounded
- 182 Not Sustained
- 26 Withdrawn
- 177 Exonerated or within Policy / Procedure
- 124 Sustained
- 5 Cancelled for Cause
- 27 Unfounded per Article 8.12 of the current bargaining agreement
- 66 Information Only
- 12 Unable to Resolve
- 131 Pending

Chief Distelzweig approved the expenditure of almost $1.3 million from seizure funds to purchase new equipment and supplies for the Division. Drug seizure money, confiscated from criminals and divided among law enforcement agencies, is one way for police agencies to supplement their budgets and obtain needed items that otherwise could not be funded. Among the purchases that Chief Distelzweig approved were:

- P100 Filters for the Emergency Management Unit
- Digital video recorders for zone lieutenants
- DNA supplies totaling $60,000 for the Crime Lab
- GPS Tracking Devices for various bureaus
- A Ballistic Blanket for SWAT
- Laser Radars for the Traffic Bureau
- Hand-held GPS devices for the Mounted Unit

In June, Patrol officers observed a silver vehicle driving erratically on I-70 eastbound around Livingston Avenue and signaled for the driver to pull over, but were ignored. The driver continued eastbound and exited at Hamilton Road, and then re-entered the freeway from the westbound ramp. Officers in the cruiser and those overhead in the helicopter, observed the driver throw a black bag out of the vehicle's window. The driver was apprehended a short time later after he exited the freeway and attempted to run from his vehicle.

Officers recovered the black bag and discovered 8 packages of pure-form heroin, probably from Mexico. The heroin had a street value of $4 million, and is the largest heroin seizure made in Columbus. The driver was determined to be in the country illegally and was charged with a felony for possession of heroin.

Division Highlights

On Monday, September 7, 2009, at approximately 3:20PM, a citizen called the Division of Police to report an erratic driver heading north on Interstate 71; the suspect vehicle was tailgating other vehicles, running vehicles off the road, driving in the median, and causing several accidents. Patrol officers responded and initiated a traffic stop on the suspect's vehicle; shortly thereafter the suspect fled from the traffic stop in an attempt to get to his residence at 1919 N. 4th Street. Events that followed are unlike any experienced by members of the Division of Police in recent history.

The suspect drove to the alley in the rear of 1919 N. 4th Street and fled on foot from his vehicle while firing a pistol at officers. One officer was subsequently shot, but fortunately was saved by his ballistic vest. After reaching his residence, the suspect broke a window to gain entry because he left his keys in the abandoned vehicle. Responding officers did not know at the time if this was the suspect's residence or if it was an in-progress aggravated burglary; however, they did know they were chasing an armed suspect who had just shot a police officer.

Immediately after gaining entry into his apartment, the suspect retrieved an AK-47 and began to fire rounds through the windows towards responding officers. This aggravated assault resulted in another officer being shot in the face as he was responding to the location. The first officers to the scene displayed great restraint and discipline in returning fire only when the gunman was visible and containing the area to protect other residents. The performance of the helicopter crew and communications personnel was outstanding in providing crucial information to the officers on the ground. Amidst a chaotic scene the radio communication was amazingly clear given that officers were under a continuous barrage of gunfire.

SWAT members responded and immediately began to extract officers and citizens who were pinned down in the area. They ultimately determined the suspect had been shot, either by an officer at the scene or a self-inflicted wound, and SWAT members secured the structure.

The Division was assisted during this incident by members of the Columbus Division of Fire who treated the wounded officers, the Franklin County Sheriff's Office, Ohio State University Police, and the Ohio State Highway Patrol.

The response to this situation demonstrated the professionalism and courage of the Division's officers and civilians, and the leadership of supervisors at the scene.

The mission of the Columbus Division of Police before, during, and after game activities in the Ohio State University area is to provide a safe environment for those persons attending various events in the area. This safe environment is provided through vigilant observation and enforcement of the Columbus City Code and the Ohio Revised Code to protect persons and property from harm and to prevent civil disorder.

This approach had many elements and required collaborative effort with other agencies. Patrol personnel and representatives from the City's Licensing Section worked before and during the football games to keep open containers of alcoholic beverages off of the streets and to keep persons safe from scam artists and unlicensed vendors. Open container violators were told to dump their alcoholic beverages or they were cited. Patrol personnel monitored the crowds and many organized parties both in the immediate area and the in off-campus student housing areas. Vice officers targeted area locations where alcoholic beverages were sold to ensure that those locations were not selling to underage persons before and during the football game. Vice officers also worked in conjunction with the Franklin County Sheriff's Office and other law enforcement agencies as part of the Stop Teenage Opportunity to Purchase (STOP) Program. For these events, STOP Program officers targeted and arrested those who were underage and in possession of open containers of alcoholic beverages. After the games, patrol officers continued to monitor off-campus housing areas.

For the seven home games at the Ohio Stadium, there were a total of 64 open container citations issued before and during the football games, 124 arrests by STOP officers for underage drinking/possession, and 8 other arrests before and during the football games for underage sales of alcoholic beverages, counterfeit ticket sales, and other offenses.

Division Highlights

The Helicopter Section was created in 1972 with the purchase of three Schweizer 300 aircraft and originally operated out of the Bolton Field Airport. In 1975, the unit moved its operations to 681 W. 3rd Avenue. The Division converted to the MD500E single-engine turbine aircraft in 1995, and currently operates six aircraft.

This year, the Division's Helicopter Section moved to its new facility at 2130 W. Broad Street. The new heliport encompasses almost 30,000 square feet and has two hangars, administrative offices, a classroom, a fitness area, an executive conference room, a library, a flight operations area, two pilot prep areas, and locker rooms.

The Helicopter Unit's primary mission is to support Patrol officers. The helicopter crew members respond to an average of 22,500 calls yearly, and have an average response time of 1.3 minutes. The unit flies approximately 5,000 hours per year, and is one of the most active aviation units in the nation in terms of number of flight hours per year. The unit loses ten percent of available flight time due to inclement weather. The helicopters are not specifically used for traffic enforcement but will assist units from both CPD and other agencies for traffic enforcement when requested. During vehicular pursuits, the helicopter often becomes the primary pursuit unit.

The Helicopter Unit is composed of 22 officers and supervisors, and all but three, who are in training, are commercial rotorcraft pilots. Two pilots have been completely trained by the Division, while one officer is waiting to complete training. The unit has two officers who are certified flight instructors. The rest of the crew obtained their private rating on their own, but the Division trained them for their commercial license. Each pilot has at least 500 flight hours.

The Helicopter Unit has flown without a fatality since its inception in 1972. Since 2006, there have been two in-flight engine failures, but both times the pilots were able to safely auto-rotate and land without injury. This is an outstanding achievement considering the unit has flown approximately 190,000 flight hours since 1972.

Visitors checking out the equipment at the open house on September 19th, 2009.

The Division is utilizing the Internet more, and specifically the various social-media websites, to disseminate important information to the public. Citizens can file on-line police reports with the CopLogic system, an alternative to the Telephone Reporting Unit; map criminal activity in their neighborhood via CrimeReports.com and receive email alerts when new crimes occur; receive email alerts from the Division through Citizen Observer, a web-based alert notification program, which among other features, allows the Division to alert citizens to neighborhood crime patterns, wanted persons, special events, and missing persons. The Division also has created pages on Facebook and Twitter to allow the public to follow its activities and stay abreast of the latest Division developments. The Minority Recruiting Unit also uses the Internet to reach interested applicants via Facebook, Myspace, and YouTube.

In October of 2009, Narcotics Bureau personnel concluded a long term investigation of a Columbus-area Hispanic Drug Trafficking Organization (DTO). Search warrants were conducted at 5 locations across Columbus with 19 kilograms of cocaine and $660,000 in cash being seized. Ten individuals were indicted in United States Federal Court out of this case, and eight have pleaded guilty. Of the two individuals remaining to be tried, it is believed that one will plead guilty, but the other has fled the state and is believed to be in Mexico. This DTO was responsible for the distribution of up to 1800 kilograms of cocaine in Columbus from early 2008 through October 2009.

In October of 2009, the Narcotics Bureau conducted a “Medication Take Back Day” with assistance from the Strategic Response Bureau and the Division’s Property Room Unit personnel. This was a collaborative effort with OhioHealth, which manages five hospitals in Central Ohio; the Dublin Police Department; the Franklin County Sheriff’s Office; and the Delaware Police Department. Collection points were set up so that citizens could turn in unwanted and unused prescription and over-the-counter medicines. Cardinal Health and the Ohio Chapter of the National Association of Drug Diversion Investigators were also partners in this effort.

This project was initiated because 96% of all unintentional poisoning deaths are due to drugs and medications. In Ohio, more people die from unintentional poisoning than motor vehicle crashes and suicide, and 26.5% of high school students reported using a prescription drug without permission. The program’s goals were to reduce the numbers of these types of drug abuses and injuries, and to provide a safe manner in which residents could turn in the medications for proper disposal rather than placing them in the trash or flushing them into the water system.

Nearly 400 households turned in a total of 1,212 pounds of unwanted prescription medications, of which 23% were pain medications and the rest of the medications were for depression, high/low blood pressure, cholesterol, asthma, and cancer. Due to the success of this program, the Division plans to conduct the event again in 2010.

Division Highlights

A significant amount of violent crime in the City of Columbus involves the use or threatened use of a firearm. On average, guns are used in 75% of homicides, 45-50% of felony assaults and a significant number of robberies and other crimes. Guns are a factor in narcotics trafficking and gang activity and are used to intimidate citizens. Residents hear and see gunfire on a regular basis, which reinforces their fear of reporting crimes and becoming victims of a violent crime. In many of these cases, the suspects have prior arrests or pending cases on gun charges and/or other crimes.

The everyday efforts of our officers to arrest these violators and seize their weapons have been excellent. CCW arrests made by Patrol officers steadily increased from 396 (2001) to 815 (2007). Since 2007, arrests have dropped as has the number of violent crimes reported. There were 676 arrests in 2008 and 545 in 2009. The total number of firearms submitted to the Division's Property Room is still averaging more than 2900 per year. Unfortunately, a large number of the charges were being dismissed for future direct indictments and the impact of the officers' efforts was greatly diminished. Suspects were often being released from jail only to obtain new weapons and commit additional crimes. A review of the involved processes was conducted and it became clear that having detectives involved with these arrests would be beneficial. In collaboration with the Franklin County Prosecutor's Office, A strategy of aggressive prosecution was developed as a potentially effective way to combat violent crime.

A pilot project was conducted in 2009 in the Crimes Against Persons Bureau in conjunction with the Prosecutor's Office. Three officers, Lowell Smittle (Robbery), Jeffrey Baker (120B), and Mike Malloy (SRB) started the project in January. During the course of the pilot project, Officer Smittle was assisted at various times by other sworn Division personnel. In addition, Prosecutor Ron O'Brien dedicated two full-time prosecutors to gun crimes and later added two prosecutors on a part-time basis. The officers reviewed every CCW package completed by Patrol officers to ensure that each was complete and accurate and that the appropriate laboratory tests were requested. The officers gathered additional information and conducted subsequent investigations when necessary. A key component to the success of this project was ensuring that firearms examinations were completed in time to allow cases to be presented to the Grand Jury within ten days of the arrests so suspects would be kept in jail. Personnel working at the Property Room and the Crime Lab were essential to this part of the project.

The pilot project was an immediate success. By the end of July, nearly all the cases that did not require DNA testing were being indicted within ten days, and the case rejection rate by the Prosecutor's Office dropped from 30% to 5%. Judges were increasing the amount of bonds and sentences for repeat CCW and Weapons Under Disability offenses and sentences often ranged from 3 to 5 years.

Based on the level of success, Chief Distelzweig established a permanent Gun Crimes Unit in the Crimes Against Persons Bureau beginning with two positions in 2010. It is anticipated that the Division will continue to see improvement in successful prosecutions and over time, a reduction in violent crimes committed with firearms.

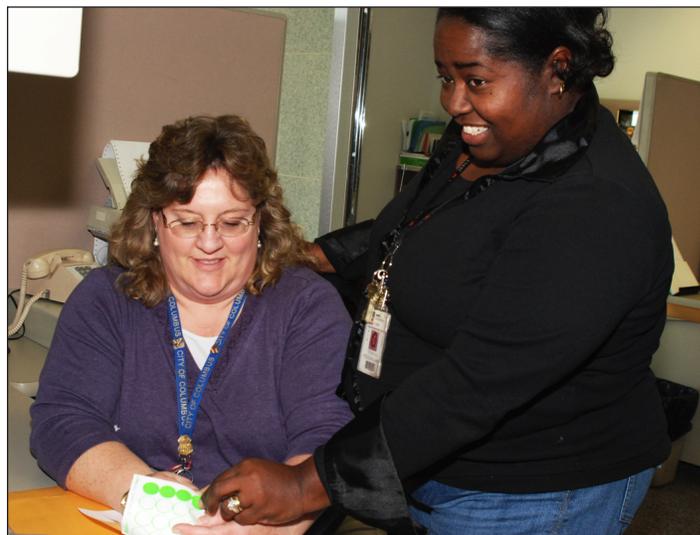

In January 2009, the Auto Theft and Property Recovery Units conceived and implemented a multi-jurisdictional operation organized to target the increase in thefts of construction equipment, vehicles, and recreation vehicles across Central Ohio. This endeavor, Operation Haul, focused on both the suspects committing the thefts, as well as the suspects fencing and trafficking in the stolen property. Operation Haul involved the cooperation of the Fairfield County Sheriff's Office, the Ohio State Highway Patrol, and the Lancaster Division of Police. Instrumental to the success of this investigation was the support of the National Insurance Crime Bureau, various local insurance companies, and the Columbus Chapter of Certified Fraud Examiners.

Ultimately, Operation Haul resulted in the arrest of 20 individuals who were charged with over 100 felony crimes. Additionally, two of the largest fencing operations in the Columbus area were identified and eradicated. In all, over $600,000 in stolen property was recovered, and more than $450,000 worth of stolen property was returned to the rightful owners.

A major focus of the Emergency Management Unit (EMU) during 2009 was the management of and the training for the Regional Mobile Command Post, "Command 18." Command 18 was deployed twenty-six times in 2009 including three actual incidents, one exercise, five demonstrations and seventeen training missions. The nine sergeants and thirteen officers who were originally selected to staff Command 18 received a combined 722 hours of training. The goal of the EMU was to have these personnel receive quarterly training in deploying and operating the unit. An additional eight sergeants and twenty officers have been identified to receive training in early 2010. This will provide a total of fifty trained personnel, ensuring operator availability during each shift.

During 2009, the Emergency Management Unit planned and/or coordinated eleven disaster and terrorism exercises that involved the Division. This consisted of one drill, five table-top, two functional and three full-scale exercises. The EMU assisted with planning and operation of the H1N1 Vaccination Clinics conducted by Columbus Public Health and the Franklin County Board of Health. There were a total of twenty-one clinics in 2009, with vaccinations given to almost 29,000 people. The Motorcycle Unit did an excellent job of providing security and traffic control at each of the clinics. Having the same personnel at each venue brought consistency and continuity that proved to be necessary for this on-going operation.

A civilian employee receives a Blue Jean Friday sticker

Over the past five years, the Division's civilian personnel's Adopt-a-Family Program has collected $68,392 and aided 87 families in the Columbus area. The civilian employees contribute to the program by purchasing a dress-down sticker on Fridays.

The Adopt-a-Family Program has expended $67,506 for:

- Christmas assistance (food, clothes, coats, hats, gloves, boots, toys)
- Packages for deployed military. These packages have been sent with the assistance of Shoe Box for a Soldier and Blue Star Mothers.
- School supplies which were donated to Columbus-area schools to fill the void for needy children. Teachers in these schools often utilize their own money to purchase needed supplies for children whose families cannot afford the expense.
- Assisted several Division employees after they experienced an unexpected life-altering event.

The assisted families were nominated by both sworn and civilian Division personnel. The Adopt a Family Committee meets and conducts a majority rule vote on the nomination and the amount of assistance to be donated.

Division Highlights

Chief Walter Distelzweig held several community forums to listen to the concerns of citizens from all parts of the city during May and June. Citizens were invited to attend the forums at recreation centers around the city to ask questions and provide ideas regarding police services.

The Division explained to the citizens how they could help to not become crime victims by taking steps to prevent some property crimes and different forms of theft.

The Columbus Police Bulldogs baseball team is in its 5th season, and helps raise money for non-profit organizations, such as the Columbus Alzheimer's Association and Get Behind the Badge (GBTB) which gives financial aid to families of police officers and firefighters critically injured or killed in the line of duty. The team traveled to Las Vegas and Chicago, at the players' expense, to participate in tournaments. In Columbus, the team plays in the Men's Senior Baseball League and had an overall record of 12 wins and 18 losses for 2009. During the 2009 season, the Bulldogs raised over $13,000 for charity.

On November 6th, the Columbus Police Bulldogs football team played in the annual Turkey Bowl, which also benefits GBTB, and beat the Columbus Division of Fire team by a score of 21-14. The 2009 Police Honoree was Sergeant Marc Muncy, who died in the line of duty in 1995. Some of the football team members are also members of the newly-formed Columbus Marauders, which is a combination of 15 different public safety agencies and plays in the National Public Safety Football League (NPSFL). This league plays its games in the spring. In 2009, the Columbus Marauders were the NPSFL's Northern Division champions with a record of 3-2, and they collected over $4,500 for Nationwide Children's Hospital and GBTB.

The CPD Hockey Team plays several games each year and raises approximately $5,000 per year for charity. One of the team's partnerships is with the Ohio Sled Hockey Program which provides disabled children and adults the ability and opportunity to play hockey. Each year after one of the Columbus Blue Jackets games, the CPD and CFD teams face off in the Police/Fire Hockey game to raise money for GBTB.

The Distinguished Service Medal is awarded to Columbus Police Officers who courageously performs an act in the line of duty at a significant risk of serious physical harm to him/herself. The act must have been performed under a complicated or hazardous condition during which the officer used excellent judgment in accomplishing a specific police mission.
