

2008 ANNUAL REPORT

Chief James G. Jackson celebrated his 50th year with the Division on March 16th. The Mayor recognized the Chief's service during the annual City of Columbus Employee Recognition and Awards Ceremony. On October 3rd, Chief Jackson announced that he would be retiring the following March. The Chief's last official working day was November 26th. Chief Jackson led the Columbus Division of Police for 18 ½ years, and was committed to officers being held accountable for their actions and not tarnishing the badge or the reputation of the officers who had worn it before them or the Division.

The Division was involved in the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) re-accreditation process again this year. The Division was awarded its fourth accreditation, proving that the Division and its personnel are committed to following the best practices and policies found in the law enforcement community.

In order to keep up with technology, Chief Jackson approved using $160,000 from seizure funds to purchase a new Gas Chromatograph Mass-Spectrometer (GC-MS) and a new Comparison Microscope for the Crime Lab. The GC-MS includes applications for drug detection, fire investigation, environmental analysis, explosives investigation and identification of unknown samples. The Comparison Microscope will assist Crime Analysts with performing forensic investigations requiring comparison and analytical analysis of bullets and bullet casings, firing pins, hair fibers, carpet and textile fibers, paint chips, scratches on metal surfaces and numerous other types of trace evidence.

Chief of Police

Only in Columbus can you have a hurricane in September! When Hurricane Ike blew through on September 14th, Division personnel were only able to respond to priority runs and injury accidents. The Division's Communications Bureau received 4,000 calls for service within one 8-hour period. The citizens came together to help each other out during the wide-spread power outages and there were no major disturbances or crime sprees.

The Division and its personnel are looking forward to next year and the new challenges that will be faced, but we also need to look back and remember to continue the practices that have brought honor and respect to the badge.

Michael B. Coleman
Mayor of Columbus

A Message from the Safety Director

As Public Safety Director and on behalf of Mayor Michael B. Coleman, I want to thank the men and women of the Columbus Division of Police for their commitment and dedication to public service. I congratulate the Columbus Division of Police for receiving a fourth accreditation award from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc (CALEA).

In 2008, we worked together to enhance neighborhood safety through innovative initiatives such as the City Curfew Program, purchase high technology equipment and open first class facilities.

For the first time ever, the City launched a successful pilot summer Curfew Program in collaboration with the YMCA and the Safe Schools Consortium. The program was developed to keep neighborhoods safe by establishing a community standard that youth ages 17 and under need to be home by midnight. To assist in this endeavor, my office along with the Mayor's office collaborated with local media and community groups to conduct several months of public outreach to let parents and youth know about increased enforcement. In comparing 2008 crime statistics with the same age group and time period from 2007, Police noted a decrease in aggravated assault, felony larceny, and sexual assault during the period of time the program was in effect.

Once again, the Columbus Police Strike Force raised the bar by improving this innovative crime strategy that puts more officers on our streets. The City increased funding for the 2008 Strike Force, investing $1.4 million for an 18-week staggered start deployment. Police made 911 on-view arrests (536 for felony crimes and 375 for misdemeanor crimes), took 240 guns off the streets, seized over 80.5 kilos of illegal drugs and confiscated $286,700 in cash. During the last four years, strike force members have made 3,098 arrests and taken a total of 687 guns off the streets of Columbus.

The Columbus Division of Police (CPD) continues to be a 21st century law enforcement agency because of its outstanding people, commitment to technological innovations, and first class facilities. In 2008, we broke ground for the new Police Heliport at 2130 W. Broad Street, we celebrated the opening of the OSU Neighborhood Policing facility that houses CPD, OSU Police, Community Crime Patrol and a Neighborhood Pride center and the opening of a Far East Neighborhood Policing Center to better serve residents in the 14th precinct. In addition, Police took delivery of two Skywatch surveillance towers as a way to continue using technology to enhance public safety. These towers utilize multiple cameras and microwave video transmission to act as a force multiplier at festivals, sporting events, emergency situations, or other large scale operations.

I am proud of every member of the Columbus Division of Police for your significant contribution to make Columbus the best place to live, work and raise a family.

Keep up the good work!

In 2008, the City of Columbus encompasses approximately 222 square miles and its population is estimated to be 773,277. The Division of Police consists of 1,957 sworn personnel, of which 225 are female. Communications Technicians took an estimated 1.5 million calls for service during the year. The Chief of Police has an annual salary of $154,000, and the Department of Public Safety accounts for 72% of the City's annual budget.

Division Highlights

On July 3, 2008, Columbus police officers and fire officials descended on a block party in the area of Waxen Court on the far east side of the city and confiscated approximately $10,000 worth of illegal fireworks. The neighborhood fireworks show was a decade-long tradition and was considered an alternative to driving to Downtown Columbus and watching Red, White & Boom. No one at the scene would claim ownership of the fireworks, which were sitting in front of a vacant house, so no arrests were made out of the incident.

Mayor Coleman initiated a Curfew Enforcement Program to run from June 5 through August 24. The Safety Initiative Fund supplied $75,000 to allow the YMCA to operate a curfew drop-off center from midnight to 6:00am on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights at their W. Long Street location. Officers finding teenagers out after midnight were able to transport them to the center where they were watched in a safe environment until a parent or guardian was contacted to come and pick them up.

The Division entered into a joint collaboration with the Ohio State University Police Department to combat crime in and around the campus area. Officers from both departments worked together in teams to patrol the area and target hotspots. During Christmas and spring breaks, when many students left for vacation, additional special duty officers were utilized to reduce the number of burglaries and thefts in the area.

Between September 2007 and June 2008, eight patrol officers volunteered to participate in the Operation Help initiative on Zone 5. Operation Help involved the enforcement of truancy and panhandling laws on the zone during the school year. The aggressive enforcement of panhandling laws lessened the number of panhandlers operating on the zone, and the offenders admitted to moving to other parts of the City because of the likelihood of being charged.

The officers also strictly enforced the truancy laws and were responsible for taking 708 truants off of the streets during school hours. The truancy enforcement decreased the number of burglaries zone-wide by 16%, and also decreased the number of thefts from autos on first shift by 43% during the school year.

On October 7, 2008, these officers were awarded the Ohio Distinguished Law Enforcement Group Achievement Award by the Ohio Attorney General's Office for their participation and efforts which made this project a success.

The Chief of Police "ponied up" additional funding for the Division's Mounted Unit this year, which brought the unit up to seven officers and nine horses, the second largest Mounted Unit in the state. With gasoline creeping toward $4 per gallon, the $7 per day cost per horse was a fiscally responsible alternative. Citizens are much more likely to approach an officer on horseback, as opposed to a cruiser, and begin discussing crime concerns in their neighborhoods. The officers are no longer relegated to only enforcing traffic laws; they now patrol high-crime neighborhoods in an effort to deter criminals, and provide additional coverage at a nominal cost.

During April and May of 2008, the Division temporarily transferred an officer from the Strategic Response Bureau's Community Liaison Unit to the Terrorism Early Warning (TEW) Unit because he had been tracking criminal activity that was deemed to be terrorist-related. While assigned to the TEW the transferred officer uncovered additional intelligence information that was of such national and international importance that it was included in the Presidential Daily Briefing on two separate occasions, a first for a local police agency. The U.S. government took action on this information because it had major political implications.

The $1.5 million Regional Mobile Command Post (RMCP) was delivered to the Division at the beginning of the year, and was purchased with Homeland Security grant funds through the combined efforts of the Homeland Security Advisory Committee, City of Columbus Public Safety Department, and other Franklin County law enforcement and fire departments. The RMCP will be primarily deployed in Franklin County or one of the 15 Ohio counties that comprise Region IV in the event of a natural disaster or emergency, but it will also be available statewide and nationwide depending upon the level of the disaster or emergency situation. The RMCP will be staffed and its security maintained by police and fire personnel from the City of Columbus who will be trained in the operation and set-up of the vehicle.

On April 30, 2008, the Narcotics Bureau's Investigative/Tactical (INTAC) Units went to an East Rich Street residence to execute a search warrant. The officers announced their presence, but the occupants of the residence did not open the door. As the entry officer struck the door with a battering ram, gunshots erupted from inside the residence and the officer was struck several times, causing him to drop the battering ram and evacuate the porch area. His partner picked up the battering ram from where it had been dropped and struck the door again. More gunshots were fired from inside the residence, and the second officer was struck in the femoral artery of his left leg and fell to the porch. Other Narcotics Bureau officers dragged him to safety and performed first aid on both of the two fallen officers until the arrival of a Columbus Division of Fire medic unit. The officers underwent surgery and both returned to duty later in the year. The suspects inside the house were arrested and have since been convicted and incarcerated.

During March of 2008, Narcotics Bureau officers were investigating a large-scale marijuana dealer out of Patas-kala, Ohio who was utilizing motor homes to transport drugs. An off-duty narcotics officer observed a large motor home going to the suspect's residence. The officer followed the vehicle and then maintained surveillance while he notified the unit sergeant and waited for the arrival of on-duty personnel. Officers stopped the RV on I-71, where a search of the vehicle yielded $1.1 million in cash. A second vehicle that left the residence was also followed and stopped, and officers recovered $100,000 and 266 pounds of marijuana from the vehicle. After searching the vehicles and the suspect's residence, officers recovered a total of $4.2 million dollars in cash, 76 firearms, one ton of marijuana, 12 vehicles. Four suspects were arrested.

The Vice Section conducted an extensive investigation into a west-side brothel that resulted in the arrest of one individual and the deportation of five illegal aliens by Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). Vice officers also conducted an investigation into two businesses that were selling counterfeit merchandise. Officers seized over $34,000 in cash and approximately $500,000 worth of counterfeit merchandise from the businesses.

The Mortgage Fraud Task Force headed by the Division's Economic Crime Unit, in cooperation with the Ohio Attorney General's office and various federal, state and local agencies, executed eight search warrants in the Central Ohio area. The Task Force seized approximately $66,000 worth of cash and vehicles, and has investigated cases involving almost $20 million. The Division is one of the only major metropolitan agencies in the Midwest dedicating personnel on a full-time basis to this type of white-collar crime, which is having such a detrimental effect locally and nationally on both the citizens and the economy.

The Property Recovery Unit held a public viewing in November to allow theft victims the opportunity to view the items in the Police Property Room and recover their own property. Victims who wanted to reclaim property had to have filed a theft report with the Division, had to have their report number(s) available for reference, and be able to identify their property by serial number or some type of markings or unusual characteristics. An approximate value of the items that were displayed for the public viewing was $500,000. The majority of the items were seized as the result of multiple search warrants being issued in April 2008 after Division personnel helped crack a theft ring operating out of Union County.

The Auto Theft Unit conducted an investigation into multiple car and equipment thefts and burglaries occurring in Franklin and surrounding counties. The detectives executed 14 search warrants, which resulted in the recovery of approximately $2.0 million worth of stolen property. There were multiple arrests out of the investigation and the two main defendants each received prison sentences of 10 or more years.

The Technical Services Bureau is contributing to the City's "Go Green" initiative. Wherever possible, the various units within the bureau are eliminating paper waste by burning requested information onto CDs, following "green" guidelines and using "green" products when constructing or remodeling facilities, and replacing old vehicles with newer, fuel-efficient vehicles.

The Division updated its fleet by replacing 133 marked patrol vehicles and 18 prisoner transport vehicles (PTVs) during the past year. In addition, unmarked vehicles with high mileage or maintenance costs were replaced with E-85 Chevy Impalas with manufacturer warranties in order to be more fuel-efficient and save on repair costs.

The Division opened two new substations in the 4th and 14th Precincts. The 4 Precinct Substation is a community policing center and houses not only the officers assigned to patrol the precinct, but also has offices for the Campus Walkie Crew, the Community Crime Patrol, and

Ohio State University officers who are working jointly with the Division to combat crime in the campus area. The City renovated an existing building it owned to house the 8th and 16th Precinct officers. Two other police facilities are currently undergoing renovation in order to accommodate personnel assigned to the 1st and 2nd Precincts. All of the buildings are being outfitted using Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) criteria for many components, such as lighting and heating, in order to protect the environment.

The Division is providing crime data to two websites that alert citizens about crimes and crime trends occurring in their neighborhood. The websites, www.crimereports.com and www.citizenobserver.com, have free access for citizens and show maps with street locations and types of crime during a given time period. The Division can also send out alerts to these websites regarding emergencies and other personal safety information that are forwarded as emails or text messages to the subscriber. Citizens are also able to access crime information on the Division's website at www.columbuspolice.org/reports.

The Division's PoliceNet Operations Unit received funding from both a Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) and the Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) grant to purchase new digital cruiser video systems for Patrol and to put 250 Panasonic Toughbook computers in the cruisers for the officers to complete their reports and access necessary information.

The Division's 98 Communication Technicians (CTs) answered approximately 937,000 non-emergency calls and 552,000 emergency (911) calls for service. Out of almost 1.5 million calls, the CTs dispatched officers on 730,107 incidents. The remaining incidents were handled either over the telephone or transferred to the appropriate unit for assistance.

The Communications Bureau transitioned to the Power911 system and became Phase I and II wireless compliant. Bureau personnel have confidence that they will be able to locate 80-90% of those callers that are calling from a wireless device who do not know their exact location.

August 5th was the date for "National Night Out," a crime and drug awareness event aimed at getting citizens involved with their neighborhoods' safety. This year, 58 Blockwatch groups participated by holding block parties, neighborhood cookouts, or some other type of activity to have the community come out and show criminals that citizens were banding together to keep criminals and crime out of their neighborhoods. Officers stopped by each scheduled event to give safety demonstrations and pass out crime prevention information brochures. Columbus communities have been participating in this program for the past 23 years.

The Division worked in conjunction with the Columbus Public Schools to develop a comprehensive plan that could be utilized if a critical incident occurs in one of the schools. The High School Resource Unit (HSRU) officers updated and modified their school's critical incident response packet and created a database containing the plan for all high schools. The Emergency Management Unit and Division of Communications personnel created a radio patch that enables school security personnel to quickly link into the Division's 800 MHz system in the event of a critical incident. The Training Bureau worked with school security personnel to train school administrators in the Quick Action Deployment (QUAD™) and Secure Avenue for Escape (SAFE™) techniques. In addition, breaching equipment was purchased and distributed to all 19 precincts, and training was provided to Patrol and HSRU officers in its use.

The Helicopter Unit was forced to cut back its flight schedule in July due to the rising cost of fuel, which had not been anticipated or budgeted. In September, Chief Jackson approved spending $200,000 of drug seizure funds for fuel to allow the unit to increase its daily number of flight hours. The Unit was previously scheduled to fly 16 hours every day, weather permitting. The Unit is now flying 12 hours per day Monday through Saturday, and 7 hours on Sunday; this is 33 fewer hours per week.

Helicopter Unit personnel responded to 22,019 calls for service by the Division, assisted other agencies 273 times, and had an average response time of 1.3 minutes. The helicopter crewmembers assisted ground units with 347 felony and 199 misdemeanor arrests.

The Division received its 4th CALEA accreditation award on July 26, 2008. The Division was in compliance with all 312 of the applicable mandatory standards, and 66 (92.9%) of the other non-mandatory standards. The Division also conducted a citizen survey in conjunction with the accreditation process and found that 89% of the citizens who responded to the survey indicated that the officers were professional, and 67% indicated that the officers had a positive attitude. The survey indicated that 41% of the respondents felt that their neighborhoods were safe.

The Division remains the largest agency in Ohio and the 5th largest municipal agency in the United States and Canada to be accredited.

Division Highlights

The Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) investigates complaints made by the public against Division personnel. The IAB supervisors received 3,427 calls from citizens, and investigated 739 citizen complaints (down 8.53% from 2007) involving 1,323 different allegations. The breakdown of the findings for the 1,222 allegations included in the completed investigations is as follows:

- 476 Unfounded
- 212 Not Sustained
- 38 Withdrawn
- 274 Exonerated or within Policy / Procedure
- 100 Sustained
- 14 Cancelled for Cause
- 22 Unfounded per Article 8.12 of the current bargaining agreement

On Friday, June 20, 2008, the Columbus Division of Police celebrated the graduation of its 113th Recruit Class. Eleven of the forty-four new police officers were female, and thirty-three were male. The recruits endured a grueling 27 weeks of training as they learned the Division's core values, policies and procedures, Ohio laws, ordinances of the City of Columbus, and the various skills and tactics that are used everyday by Patrol officers. The officers also completed three, five-week coaching periods with different Field Training Officers before getting a probationary assignment in one of the five Patrol Bureaus.

The Columbus Police Reserves has been in existence for 63 years and is currently comprised of 39 sworn individuals who volunteer their time to assist the Division. During 2008, the Reserves gave 8,242 hours of their time to the Division. The officers worked in patrol cruisers to supplement the officers, attended training, helped with the public auctions held at the Impound Lot and the Property Room, and worked traffic details for parades, marathons, telethons, food drives, OSU football, and Red, White & Boom to name a few. The Reserves also donated $300 to the Mark Muncy Scholarship Fund and $200 to the Stephanie Spielman Fund (breast cancer) in memory of Heather Pick, a local news-caster.

The members of the Reserves have an average age of 61 years. Many are still employed full-time and volunteer whenever possible. The longest-serving member has assisted the Division for 45 years in a volunteer capacity.

Officers in the Special Victims Bureau conducted an investigation regarding a male suspect who was alleged to have been secretly videotaping female children who changed their clothes in his bathroom after swimming in his backyard pool. The suspect admitted to the filming and to possessing large quantities of child pornography. The investigating detectives obtained search warrants for the suspect's home and collected evidence including DVDs, tapes, computer and recording equipment. The tapes were viewed and the detectives observed the suspect performing criminal acts involving several children. The suspect confessed to multiple crimes and was indicted on 38 separate criminal counts, including Rape and Gross Sexual Imposition and was sentenced to 365 years in prison, the longest sentence ever handed out in the history of the Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

A Diversity Recruiting Council was created, consisting of twenty-three business owners, community leaders and Columbus police officers, as a way to assist the Minority Recruiting Unit in targeting and attracting minorities and females to the Division. The initial role of the Council was to help prepare minorities and females for a career with CPD, assist in educating minority youths about a career with CPD, and assist in increasing the minority and female representation within the Division to equal that of the community.

New and innovative ways to recruit qualified individuals were developed by the Council's members and they provided valuable input on how to attract the best-qualified people for the Division. The Minority Recruiting Unit expects the Council's role to expand over the upcoming years.

The Homicide Units were kept busy investigating the 109 homicides that occurred during the year, a 38% increase over 2007. The unit was able to close 41 of the 2008 cases, with 23 of the cases being cleared by arrest. In addition, there were 19 police-involved shootings that were investigated and sent to the appropriate County Prosecutor and to the Firearms/Police-Involved Death Review Board for a determination of whether or not the shooting was within Division policy.

The Distinguished Service Medal is awarded to Columbus Police Officers who courageously performs an act in the line of duty at a significant risk of serious physical harm to him/herself.
