RFQ (Streetcar District Art Series, Sculpture #2) - DUE: May 15, 5:00p Artist In The Community - 20150388

Letter of Interest (NDC)

I am writing in response to the Neighborhood Design Center RFQ for public art for the Streetcar District • Art Series. I believe art in all its forms has the ability to inform, to inspire and to improve the lives of the individuals that experience it. The addition of public art to Livingston Park that celebrates both the history • of the streetcar district and the surrounding neighborhoods will enrich the experience of all visitors to the • park particularly local citizens and hospital visitors looking for a place to relax.

Trained as a graphic designer, I am an interdisciplinary artist working on design, fine art and public art projects. My approach to public art is rooted in my design training and the belief that the solution often comes from the problem. I approach each project without preconceived ideas or forms and allow the • project to evolve naturally. Through a process of inquiry, research and immersion, I explore, interpret • and distill visual opportunities to reach a solution that is at once specific, unique and meaningful. With installations of public art in both Cleveland and Kent, OH, my fine art work has been exhibited in galleries and museums in both the US and abroad.

Recently, I completed a public art commission for the Larchmere Streetscape and I am currently involved in developing an extensive collection of street furniture for Cleveland's Gateway District. A series of bike racks designed for Larchmere Boulevard on Cleveland's East side reference the art and antiques that the community is known for. Classic wooden chair styles are reinterpreted in both material and color creating interest and variety on the street. The street furniture developed for the Gateway District celebrates the turn of the century arcades and architectural details of the district. The modular street furniture is designed and installed to create gathering areas for visitors and locals alike. Both bike racks and furniture are functional while providing visual interest and activating the street when not in use.

With over 20 years of design and visual problem solving experience, a collaborative approach and the knowledge of a variety of production methods, I bring a unique blend of skills and experience to each project. Moving confidently between developing clear and concise creative solutions and managing • details such as timelines and budgets are skills honed in both the design and fine art studios. Thank you • for considering my work.

Kind regards,

Tom Hubbard

IMAGE LIST

1. LARCHMERE BOULEVARD STREETScape: Bike Racks (2014)

Inspired by the tagline “Upbeat Vitality, Offbeat Charm” and the retro, “shabby chic” feel of Larchmere, these bike racks reference the art and antiques that the community is known for. Classic wooden chair styles (Shaker, Queen Anne, Bentwood, etc.) reinterpreted in both material and color, these functional and sculptural designs add interest and variety to the street. A total of 25 bike racks were produced and installed along a 12 block stretch of Larchmere Boulevard in the Fall of 2014.

LOCATION: Cleveland OH
AGENCY: City of Cleveland
MATERIALS: Powder coated steel
SIZE: 42”H x 30”W
BUDGET: $45,000

2. HONEST WORK: Site Specific Installation (2011)

Proposal for a site specific installation at Eastern State Penitentiary, Philadelphia, PA. Inspired by the prison’s history and Quaker belief system that reform was achieved through solitary confinement, hard work and studying the scripture. My concept explores the idea that the work of producing shoes and studying the scripture were intertwined and that the scripture was revealed through the work. 20 handbuilt ceramic shoes in groupings of 1-3 shoes line the thresholds of 14 cells in cell block 7 and ask the viewer to consider, if redemption was actually achieved through this system. Despite great consideration from the jurors (placing 4th out of 100+ entries) this project was not selected for funding or produced.

LOCATION: NA
AGENCY: Personal Work
MATERIALS: Handbuilt ceramics with stamped text & graphics
SIZE: 8”H x 5”W x 13”L each
BUDGET: NA

3. ED HAUSER MEMORIAL: Conceptual Development (2012) pending

Commissioned to develop concepts for a memorial honoring local activist, Ed “Citizen” Hauser, who fought to save Whiskey Island. Based on the metaphor of ever expanding ripples caused by dropping a stone into water, the memorial incorporates quotes by Ed and a timeline of his decade long fight to save this piece of green space. The ripples symbolize Ed’s action and how the actions of one person can resonate to affect many others. Positioned in the center is a small marker allowing the visitor to reflect on Ed’s work and his question: “What does it mean to be a Citizen?” The visitor is surrounded by the ripples and encouraged to consider their own actions as a citizen. Ed was the stone, now the visitor is the stone.

LOCATION: Cleveland, OH
AGENCY: LAND Studio/Great Lakes Brewing
MATERIALS: Cast stone with sandblasted text
SIZE: 90’D x 18”H
BUDGET: $100,000 projected

4. SEMPER FIDELIS: Fine Art Exhibition (2003)

Centerpiece of the exhibition, Semper Fidelis: How I Met My Father documenting my quest to learn about my father, a US Marine killed in Vietnam. This exhibition is the result of nearly 2 years of research and 5 weeks of travel through Vietnam where I was able to retrace my father's tour of duty. Loosely based on artillery shell casings, these ceramic vessels incorporate letters written by my father, USMC field reports and my personal journal entries along with photographs to chronologically represent my journey. Additional works of photography, mixed media, a reinterpreted Vietnamese family altar and my sketchbooks complete the exhibition. This exhibition is not a political statement about the war in Vietnam. Rather, it is a statement of personal loss and how the effects of war resonate through multiple generations.

LOCATION: NA

AGENCY: Personal Work

MATERIALS: Handbuilt ceramics with stamped text & graphics

SIZE: 8"H x 5"W x 13"L each

BUDGET: NA

5. PORTLAND PUBLIC MARKET: Signage System (2000)

As part of developing the identity system for the new market, a series of icons representing various products found within the market (meat, fish, produce, etc.) was developed. The icons were then used on seasonal banners, posters, and as the inspiration for three dimensional hand carved wood sculptures as part of the exterior signage system. Responsible for creative direction, design and production of all materials. Image shows main entrance sign, fabricated steel parking sign with hand carved rooster and salmon weathervane outside main entrance.

LOCATION: Portland, ME

AGENCY: Portland Public Market

MATERIALS: Painted Steel & wood

SIZE: Fish 12'H x 3'W / Rooster 10'H x 3'W

BUDGET: $100,000

6. CITY OF KENT DOWNTOWN REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT: Bike Racks (2014)

Tapping into Kent's rich and varied history and college town vibe, my designs are derived from the area icons and landmarks that make Kent unique. Simple yet striking visuals ranging from the grain elevator to the gothic revival and 2nd Empire architecture to playful black squirrels and images referencing area businesses capture Kent's eclectic, artsy and quirky nature. Four bike racks were commissioned and installed in downtown Kent in the Summer of 2014 as part of the Downtown Redevelopment Project.

LOCATION: Kent, OH

AGENCY: City of Kent

MATERIALS: Powder coated steel

7. VARIETY VILLAGE: Gateway Kiosk (2015) in progress

Anchored by the historic Variety Theatre, this kiosk serves as Gateway element marking entry into the district. Abstracted from a Hollywood premier searchlight, a laser cut, stainless steel screen surrounds a powder coated steel column. Silhouettes of performers reference the stage and screen while information panels provide background information on the theatre and district.

LOCATION: Cleveland, OH

AGENCY: Westown Community Development Corporation

MATERIALS: Stainless steel & powder coated steel

SIZE: 32"D x 10'-6"H

BUDGET: $40,000

8. HISTORIC GATEWAY DISTRICT: Street Furniture (2015) in progress

Designed to define, brand and enhance the Gateway District in the heart of Downtown Cleveland. These designs reference the trusses and construction of the turn of the century Arcades and the decorative metal work found throughout the district. Comprised of modular designed benches, stools and tables along with bike racks, planters and waste bin wraps, this system of street furniture will encourage users to gather, enjoy the city and become part of the community. Currently in progress, furniture prototypes to be installed this summer.

LOCATION: Cleveland, OH

AGENCY: Historic Gateway Neighborhood Corporation

MATERIALS: Powder coated steel & Black Locust lumber

SIZE: Bench 18"H x 60"W, Bike racks 40"H x 30"W

BUDGET: $350,000
