The Frederick J. Yates, Jr. Memorial Scholarship

If you attended Mayor Coleman's Small Business Conference 2014, are a small business owner or executive, have a minimum of 3 to 5 years' experience running a small business, and at least $300,000 in annual sales, this may be a great opportunity for you!

The City of Columbus is happy to present the 3rd annual Frederick J. Yates, Jr. Memorial Scholarship Minority Business Award, funded by proceeds from the Mayor's Small Business Conference.

The award was created to honor the legacy of Frederick J. Yates, Jr., a long-time minority business advocate, entrepreneur, and former Director of the EBO Office. Fred worked tirelessly to help every business owner whom he believed had "fire in the belly"—his phrase to describe the unrelenting drive to achieve the greatness within.

The awardee will receive full tuition to the Tuck Executive Education minority business program, "Building a High-Performing Minority Business", May 17-22, 2015 at Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire.
