Columbus City Councilmember Andrew J. Ginther, chair of the Safety Committee, will hold a public hearing to review the limited expansion of the "Focus On Safety" Photo Red Light Camera program. In May, Councilmembers approved legislation to increase the number of intersections where cameras are present from the current 18 up to 40. The current compliment of cameras has been credited with reducing dangerous right angle crashes at some intersections by more than 75%. Also to be discussed, the use of mobile speed vehicles to patrol areas where children congregate, most especially school zones, and other technical code changes designed to strengthen an already successful safety program.
